COME JOIN US!

At Reston Community Center, the principles of equity and opportunity are at the heart of our vision – “RCC enriches lives and builds community for all of Reston.” The founding principles of Reston itself were centered on the inherent dignity and value of each individual and that everyone’s contributions are central to a successful place to live, work and play. Robert E. Simon Jr., Reston’s founder, wanted an inclusive place from the start – he wanted Reston to be a response to what Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. characterized as “the fierce urgency of now.”

Despite our intentions and vision, equitable opportunities for all and the full realization of social and racial justice for everyone remain unfulfilled promises. In the spirit of exploring these issues and the celebration of our potential to be and do better, RCC offers programming, services and events that we hope will keep us focused on the future we want. We do so in concert with many partners; we believe in collaboration that creates collective impact.

Beverly Ann Cosham, Chair,
RCC Board of Governors

BeBe Nguyen, Executive Director,
Reston Community Center

BUILDING COMMUNITY

EQUITY MATTERS

“Through our scientific and technological genius, we have made of this world a neighborhood and yet we have not had the ethical commitment to make of it a brotherhood. But somehow, and in some way, we have got to do this. We must all learn to live together as brothers or we will all perish together as fools. We are tied together in the single garment of destiny, caught in an inescapable network of mutuality. And whatever affects one directly affects all indirectly. For some strange reason I can never be what I ought to be until you are what you ought to be. And you can never be what you ought to be until I am what I ought to be.”

– An excerpt from Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.’s Morehouse College’s 1959 Commencement Address, “Remaining Awake Through a Great Revolution.”

EQUITY MATTERS

The time is now to move beyond embracing diversity as an asset and implement a new growth model driven by equity — just and fair inclusion into “One Fairfax,” a community in which everyone can participate and prosper. “One Fairfax” can only be realized with an intentional racial and social equity policy at the core of all publicly delivered services. A racial and social equity policy provides the direction and means to eliminate disparities and work together to build a vibrant and opportunity-rich society for all.

In July 2016, the Fairfax Board of Supervisors and School Board joined in this resolution and directed the development of a racial and social equity policy for adoption. The policy required further strategic actions to advance opportunities and achieve equity. These include intentionally representative leadership, community engagement, use of equity tools and infrastructure to support and sustain systemic changes, and shared accountability so that collectively, we can and will realize “One Fairfax” – a community where everyone can participate and prosper.

RCC Strategic Plan 2021 – 2026 | Equity Pillar

In October 2021, Reston Community Center’s Board of Governors adopted a strategic plan for the coming five years. In considering community priorities, the plan established an “Equity Pillar” with the following goal and objectives:

Goal: RCC embodies the principles delineated in the One Fairfax policy by putting equity at the forefront of meeting community needs and serves the people and neighborhoods of Reston through allocation of resources, according to those needs and informed understanding of the community’s diverse interests.

Objectives:

- To participate as an active and engaged partner in Reston Opportunity Neighborhood (RestON).
- To regularly conduct outreach to the community that is welcoming, flexible and respectful.
- To assess barriers to the full enjoyment of leisure-time activities and implement strategies to eliminate those barriers.
